

Are you a UKinational who's moved to Spain?

As a UK national who has moved to Spain and made it your permanent establishment, you may be subject to double taxation on your income from a UK company.

However, the double taxation agreement (DTA) between the United Kingdom and Spain prevents this from occurring. Under the terms of the DTA, you will be taxed on your income in Spain, as it is your permanent establishment, but you can claim relief on the taxes paid in the UK to avoid double taxation.

Additionally, the DTA includes provisions for the exchange of information between tax authorities of both countries, as well as provisions to prevent tax evasion and avoidance. This ensures that you are not subject to excessive tax burdens while conducting business or earning income in both countries.
